MISSIONARIES IN CHINA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

C.M.S. House, West Point, Hongkong, 12th April.

Sir,—In your issue of this morning, commenting upon the situation in China, you say "no more vicious principles have ever been upheld by Western arms in China than this, that the life of a foreign preacher can and must be paid for in money or land for his country's benefit." Most right thinking people will agree with you in this, and I should also strongly disapprove of a Missionary Society making profit out of the death of any of its agents in China.

In a preceding paragraph you venture to assert that a charge of this kind can be justly made against some societies at work in China. Your remarks for saying so are doubtless known to yourself, and you consider them sufficient for the statement.

Will you allow me to speak for the Church Missionary Society, and refer to its action in connection with the terrible tragedy which took place at Hwa Saag in the Fokien Province in August, 1895, when the Rev. B. W. Stewart and Mrs. Stewart and their companions were murdered? In the Society's official record (P. 387, Vol. IV, History of the C.M.S.), it is thus referred to and the conduct of the Society summarised:

"When Lord Salisbury inquired of the C.M.S. and C.B.M.S. what compensation he was to press for on account of the Hwa Saag massacre both Societies replied that they would accept none. Any money paid might have been regarded in China as an indemnity for the lives of the missionaries, and both committees were anxious to avoid even the appearance of violence. In due course Lord Salisbury wrote to the C.M.S. that the Chinese authorities were much impressed by the high-minded attitude of the Societies."

The Teangli Yamen, informed Sir Claude Macdonald, the British Minister, that the refusal to accept compensation commended the Yamen's profound respect and esteem, and that every effort would be made to prevent future disturbances."

I hope, Sir, that your readers will understand that your remarks do not refer to the Church Missionary Society.—I am, yours, etc.,

W. BANISTER,

Secretary,
Church Missionary Society.

FOOD COMMISSION.

The following report is published in the Gazette, signed by Messrs. E. Osborne, A. M. Marshall, F. Matland, Fung Wa Chun, and (Dr.) W. Hartigan—

(1) A number of meetings were held, witnesses examined, and a mass of information obtained from Steamship Lines, Hotels, the Gas, the Government Civil Hospital, Military Authorities, and other sources.

(2) An advertisement asking information from householders was inserted in the local papers, to which 3 persons (ladies) replied.

(3) The following table shows the percentage of rise in the wholesale and retail prices in 5 years—

Articles.	Wholesale.	Retail.
Bread,	13 per cent.	50 "
Eggs,	33 "	33 "
Beef,	25 "	45 "
Mutton,	40 "	80 "
Eggs,	50 "	40 "
Potatoes,	25 "	50 "
Firewood,	90 "	95 "
Ground Nut Oil, 110,	100 "	100 "
Rice,	33 "	33 "

(4) Beyond natural fluctuations of supply and demand, the main causes of this increase have been—

(a) Depreciation of Silver.
(b) Increased Cost of Rice.
(c) West River Piracy.
(d) Increased Rent.
(e) Enforcement of Sanitary Laws.

(5) The augmentation of the Military and Naval forces in Hongkong and Manila has contributed towards a rise in certain commodities, as the sources of supply are limited and take time to accommodate themselves to the increased demand.

(6) Whilst it is difficult by means of direct evidence to prove that a combination exist with the object of keeping up the price of meat, the fact that practically the whole supply is in the hands of two men, the knowledge being supported by syndicates and from whom other market interveners must tend to crush other individual effort and enterprise, give them a monopoly, and enable them to regulate prices as they please. The fact also that the two individuals put forward as owners of this large business in a trade which has a world-wide reputation for being most lucrative, swore they have been losing money in it during three consecutive years, and that during the whole course of their examination they were manifestly prevaricating and concealing the truth, makes all evidence on this point most unreliable.

(7) We consider that market rates are not excessive (except in particularly choice situations) and have not contributed to the increase. At the same time we regard rents as a tax on food, and think they should be kept as low as possible.

(8) Our enquiries have failed to suggest any practical remedies of real value, and bearing in mind the many objections there are to legislative interference in trade affairs, we can only make the following recommendations—

(a) That increased Market accommodation be provided and meanwhile, in order to relieve pressure on existing Markets, that fruit and vegetables be sold outside in licensed shops.

(b) That Markets be used for the sale of perishable food only. Biscuits, Hams, Tinned Meat, Jams and such like stores should not be sold in Markets, as the letting of stalls for such purposes tends to crowd out the legitimate vendors of fresh produce.

(c) That further endeavours be made to stamp out piracy.

(d) The cheapening of rents by opening new building areas with means of conveyance by tramways and ferries.

(e) The reduction of Market rents to such level as will provide just sufficient funds to cover interest on capital and working expenses. Markets should not be a source of profit.

(f) The encouragement of foreign ladies to make their own purchases by having the Markets kept clean and by clearing the passages of loafers.

(g) We recommend that an attempt be made to encourage the villagers of the New Territory to breed cattle by providing them with funds for the purchase of stock (to be repaid when the animal is brought to market) or with heifers from a Government stockyard.

(h) We also recommend that an attempt be made to induce them to grow vegetables and rear poultry, and suggest that attached to each Police Station should be a European gardener whose business, assisted by Chinese, it would be to cultivate vegetables as an object lesson to surrounding natives and to provide them with seed imported by Government.

(i) We specially recommend that trials be made in the New Territory (Shatin Valley for instance) in growing Potatoes.

The best Potatoes sold in Hongkong are those grown at Macao, and it does not appear unreasonable to suppose that what will grow near Macao will grow equally well in the New Territory.

(j) We desire to state in conclusion that the delay in the publication of the food commission report has been due to the Chairman of the commission being unable to afford the time for the prosecution of the enquiry and the preparation of the report.

THE GREEN ISLAND CEMENT COMPANY LIMITED.

The twelfth ordinary annual meeting of shareholders in the Green Island Cement Co., Limited, was held on Saturday at eleven o'clock. Mr. B. Shawan, chairman, presided, and the other gentlemen present were—Messrs. H. C. P. Chater, C.M.G., D. Gillies, C. Evans (consulting committee), A. Babinington, R. K. Leigh, R. O. Wilcox, T. H. Reid, Fung Wa Chun and Sui Un.

The Chairman said—Gentlemen, printed copies of the Report and Accounts have been in your hands for some days past, so if you have no objection, we will dispense with reading them now. A profit of about $111,000, as against $70,000 last year, is satisfactory, but our Dividend appears smaller as it has to be paid on the much larger capital of nearly $1,000,000. We had the benefit last year of the first installation at Hok Un, though not to its full extent, while the second installation, for which fresh capital was subscribed by you, a year ago, will not, owing to the difficulty of getting machinery made at home in anything like reasonable time, be in a position to turn out any cement before next July at the earliest, and when everything is ready, it takes so long to train and educate the burners and other men for their special work that it will be at least another year before the last kiln is burning. You will consequently understand that, although we are paying a dividend this year on a capital of roughly $1,000,000, at least $250,000 of this has been quite unproductive. Under these circumstances, I think that shareholders should find the report a satisfactory one, and I feel sure we may look forward with confidence to the future of the Company. Our new kilns have continued to give us more and more satisfaction, their output this year having been considerably beyond our highest estimates. The quality of the cement itself is now admitted to be of the highest, and no better proof of this can, I think, be given than the fact that the builders of the new Admiralty Dock have made a contract with us and are using the cement freely under the most severe test conditions as to tensile strength, &c. As for markets, we would not of course have recommended the fresh extension at Hok Un had we felt any doubt on this subject, nor do we feel any now. We are selling to-day all we can make, and could sell more, and if we may at first have to accept lower prices in order to get in our new market, and dispose of our increased production, we shall not have to do so long. In this Colony, I am glad to say we have pretty well overcome the competition of cheap cement from home, and I have no doubt it is only a question of a little time before our friends, elsewhere, will appreciate the advantages of using a bona fide Portland Cement of the best quality, in place of low-grade Japanese and other kinds. At Macao, we have succeeded in adding a few improvements, but our limit of output has been reached, and except in the way of economising the cost of making, there is little more that we can do there. At Hok Un, in spite of troubles which are all in the day's work, we have made steady progress, and much credit should be given to our Managers there for the way in which they have overcome the difficulties they have had to encounter in training raw hands for the peculiar work required at the kilns, etc. At Deep Water Bay, we have gone on pulling down the old brick and pipe kilns and replacing them by larger and more economical ones, and, although on a moderate scale, the result is certainly satisfactory. The cost of living, as you know, is so enormous; the cost of living, as you know, has risen greatly in the Colony of late, and it has been impossible for us to keep our best men by us without increasing their pay, and of course higher wages means greater cost of production. It is only a case of supply and demand, but in spite of these gentlemen who write and talk so glibly of China's teeming millions, I cannot see that, in this Colony at any rate, the supply of labour is at all keeping pace with the demand. Turning to the Accounts, there is nothing that I can see that requires explanation, but I may remark that we have no longer any credit balance at our Bankers, recent payments on account of the new extension at Hok Un having absorbed it all, and left a balance on the other side, which will be made still larger when our Dividend of nearly $80,000 is paid. Before moving the adoption of the report and accounts, I shall be pleased to answer any question from shareholders.

No questions being asked, on the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. Leigh, the report and accounts, as presented, were adopted and passed.

Mr. Wilcox proposed, and Mr. Fung Wa Chun seconded, that the following gentlemen be re-elected the Consulting Committee, viz:—Messrs. Chater, Evans, Dickson, and Gillies.

Carried.

Messrs. F. Henderson and W. H. Potts, who audited the accounts last year, were re-elected for the ensuing year, on the motion of Mr. Reid, seconded by Mr. Chater.

The Chairman—That is all the business gentlemen. I am much obliged to you for your attendance. Dividend warrants will be ready on Monday.

THE CHINA LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY, LIMITED.

A statutory meeting of the above Company was held at the offices of the General Managers, Messrs. Shawan, Tomes & Co., on Saturday morning. There were present, Messrs. B. Shawan (chairman), D. Gillies, Fung Wa Chun, A. Babinington, A. Reid, J. M. McKerrrie, and J. Duff (secretary).

The notice convening the meeting having been read,

The Chairman said—This Company was, as all are aware, registered on the 24th of January, and this meeting is therefore held in accordance with the law which requires us to hold a meeting of shareholders within four months from that date. Electric Light Companies require as a rule rather a long time to grow to fruition, so much time being necessarily consumed in making the installation, but as regards Canton, we are fortunate in that respect, as we took over a going concern there. It is true it was not going very well then, but I am pleased to say that things are different now. We had, of course, to make drastic changes from the former Chinese regime, and much time was, of course, lost in doing this and getting fresh supplies of material, etc., from home. These latter have now arrived, and we shall be kept busy, for some time to come, in fitting up further installations for the new orders we have in hand, both on Shamone and in the Chinese city of Canton. On Shamone the lighting is, of course, on a limited scale, but in the city there seems every prospect of our doing a large and growing business, as in consequence of the fear of fire, which very naturally haunts the minds of the shopkeepers, etc., in that crowded town, the Electric Light is growing in popularity every day.

To such people as the proprietors of theatres, restaurants, flower-boats, etc., and to all those in trades which require late hours, the advantages of our light over kerosene are obvious, but Chinese like, they waste time in the endeavour to drive a bargain and beat down our prices. The demand from such sources in a city like Canton should be very great, and produce a good revenue to the Company when all the necessary poles, wires and installations are complete. I may mention that the Company now derives a steady income from contracts to supply water and fire-extinguishing apparatus to various districts of the city in the event of fires, and this is a branch of our business that, with time and a little expenditure of capital, we think can be enlarged considerably. At Kowloon, or rather at Hongkong, we are not in such a good position as our station is only in course of erection there, and at the rate of progress, common to most builders and contractors just now, it is impossible to say when the period of production over there will be reached. We hope, however, that from six to eight months will see us in a position to supply electric light to that part of the Colony, and when that time arrives we have every reason to believe that we shall find a good demand for the light. I have, of course, no accounts to lay before you, but I may perhaps say the capital of $300,000 has all been subscribed, with a few trifling exceptions, paid up. That is all that occurs to me to say at present, but if any of you have any questions to ask, I shall endeavour to answer them to the best of my ability.

There were no questions, the chairman thanked those attending, and the meeting came to an end.

CHINA BORNEO COMPANY, LD.

The second ordinary yearly meeting of shareholders was held at the company's offices, 4, Queen's Building, at noon, on Saturday, Mr. G. Wood, chairman, presided, and there were present the Hon. C. F. Chater, C.M.G., Mr. E. Osborne (consulting committee), and Messrs. C. S. Sharp, W. Parkins, W. H. Wickham, O. Baptista, and J. Wheeler, manager.

The notice calling the meeting having been read,

The Chairman said—Gentlemen, the report and accounts have now been in your hands for some days, and I presume there is no objection to their being taken as read. The Company's operations during the year, notwithstanding the troubles in North China, which interfered with local demand for some months, show a very satisfactory result, and we hope you will approve our recommendations as to the disposal of the sum at credit of profit and reserve, this sum ($2,189,000) is, as you are aware, the result of two years' working, and we have recommended the somewhat large dividend of 25 per cent. on the subscribed capital, in consideration of this. The volume of this Company's business, like most others, depends on supply and demand, and is consequently subject to fluctuation, and we think it policy to provide for this, and for this reason we have recommended a fairly large sum being carried to reserve; and I have no doubt shareholders will agree to a continuance of this policy when results permit, which must strengthen the Company's position and safeguard shareholders' interests. I am glad to be able to say that, so far, the result for the current year is quite satisfactory. The various properties have been well maintained, and are all in good order. Finally, I have again to say that we are indebted for these good results to the excellent management of Mr. Wheeler, here, and Mr. Darby, in Sandakan, who have thereby earned our warm acknowledgements of their services. Before proposing the adoption of the report and accounts, I shall be glad to answer any questions.

Mr. PARKINS—May I ask, Mr. Chairman, about the land and house property? It seems a very small item in the assets. I was under the impression that the old company was possessed of very extensive concessions both of land and house property. It seems to me such a very small item that I don't quite understand it.

Mr. WHEELER—We have only about five or six town lots in Sandakan and about 7,000 acres of tobacco land on the Kinabatangan River. The tobacco land was given us simply nominal value, and two-thirds of it is always under water.

Mr. PARKINS—It seems such a small item; I thought the old Company had more extensive concessions.

Mr. WHEELER—The land is well worth the amount at which it is entered in the Company's books.

There were no further questions, and the Chairman proposed the adoption of the report and accounts as presented.

Mr. WICKHAM—I beg to second the chairman's motion. The thanks of the shareholders are due to the consulting committee and the manager for the most excellent report that has been presented.

The motion was carried unanimously. On the motion of Mr. WICKHAM, seconded by Mr. Parkins, the Hon. C. F. Chater, C.M.G., was re-elected to the consulting committee.

Mr. F. Henderson was re-elected auditor, on the motion of Mr. BAPTISTA, seconded by Mr. Parkins.

The Chairman—That is all there is to say, gentlemen, except that dividend warrants will be obtained on Monday. Shareholders will kindly apply at the office here for them.

LIQUID FUEL.

ITS UTILITY AS A PROPELLING POWER.—The lecture room of the Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders of Hongkong was well filled on Saturday evening when Mr. John Lambert, the Superintendent Engineer of the Comptrolment Dock, read a most exhaustive, and at the same time exceedingly interesting, paper on "Liquid Fuel."

Mr. R. Cooke presided, and among those present we noticed, Messrs. Kinghorn Jack, Sinclair, Murphy, Mumford, Kirkwood, Brownhill, J. Black, W. E. Danby, G. C. Anderson, Innes, Soppet, Stirling, and Mr. Smith, Chief Engineer, U.S.S. Concord.

The Chairman in a few well-chosen remarks introduced Mr. Lambert who illustrated his paper by a number of pencil drawings and diagrams. At the outset he said he wished to deal more with the mechanical uses than with the chemical composition of the fuel and its gases, and in so doing had to rely not only on what practical experience he had had in that branch of engineering, but also on information collected, by study, and information gathered from engineers with whom he had come into contact, who had been able to give any experience on the subject; nor did he wish to extol the advantages of the use of liquid fuel, without considering the disadvantages or the difficulties encountered thereby. He, however, ventured to hope that the small amount of information collected might not be without some interest to the members of that institution, and might at all events form the basis of a profitable and interesting discussion.

It was only within the last few years that liquid fuel had come within the province of British engineers, owing to the fact that hitherto it had only been practically obtainable in the vicinity of the Caspian Sea at such a price that rendered it commercially possible.

Within the last few years, however, a considerable change had taken place. New oil fields had been discovered, and the number of places on the eastern route at which liquid fuel could be obtained had increased so enormously that engineers and shipbuilders were turning their attention to the possibilities of that kind of fuel becoming profitable, and for shipbuilders to consider whether it was not an economy to use it if not in preference to, at least in conjunction with coal on vessels trading eastward.

Liquid fuel was by no means a new suggestion. It was quite a general idea since it was known it was possible to use liquid fuel instead of coal for the propulsion of ships, but there had hitherto been two drawbacks: First, there had been no regular supply of fuel, then the want of suitable appliances for injecting the oil into the furnaces was so serious as to make it impossible to use it on board ships.

As regards the first objection, it was fast disappearing, now that the new oil fields had proved so extensive, and that large storage tanks of four and five thousand tons capacity had been erected at all stopping stations, from Port Said to Japan.

The second objection, however, was not disappearing so quickly, although great improvement was being made in the apparatus for injecting the oil into the furnaces, still there was room for a greater improvement in this respect as the best burners of to-day were only slight modifications of a burner used in 1874. That seemed to have been of the simplest pattern of the sprayer class of burners and the foundation of all recent ones.

Before going into the details of the different kinds of injectors Mr. Lambert pointed out the advantages of the use of liquid fuel the ideal of perfection be obtained, but which he considered had not yet been reached, still, they were on the way to that result with the improvements and practical results that some of our interested engineers and shipbuilders were from time to time obtaining. Allowing that a complete combustion was obtained and which was quite possible, that the flame was so distributed that no injurious effects were transmitted to the plates of the boiler, and that the fuel was carried in well-constructed tanks so that any leakage was out of the question, then he thought the following would be some of the advantages as used on steamships.

(1) No lost heat, no smoke or soot.

(2) No ashes or clinkers, and consequently no fires to clean, with the accompanying loss of heat find drop in the steam pressure—the steam pressure being maintained at one point throughout the voyage.

(3) The boiler tubes are always free from soot, and clean, and therefore absorb the best condition for transmitting the heat from gases passing through them to the water of the boiler.

(4) The admission of air to the furnaces being under complete control, and the furnaces fuel being burnt in fine particles in close contact with the oxygen of the air, only a very small excess of air above that actually necessary for the complete combustion of the fuel is required. With coal, in order to ensure as possible, a very much larger excess of air is required.

We hold over the remainder of our report, with the interesting discussion which followed, till our next issue.

In making incense, says a writer in Work, it is necessary to add other ingredients besides the resins, because the latter fuse and do not burn readily unless heated to a rather high temperature, when they burn far too vigorously, and the odor is lost. To obtain a slow-burning mixture, add cedar-wood powder or wood charcoal and nitre to the other ingredients; with this mixture the gums are volatilised without burning, and disseminate their odor through the air.

The following is given as a recipe for incense: Sandal-wood powder, 1 lb.; cascarilla bark powder, 1 lb.; benzoin powder, 1 lb.; myrrh, 2 oz.; nitre, 2 oz.; and grain musk, 1 dr. A portion of the benzoin might be replaced by oil-burnum and galls, but this will not alter the odor very

OUR PARIS LETTER

Paris, 16th March.
An agitation is being started in order to secure time-service in the army for one year instead of three. Some demand a period of one year under the flag. A parliamentary commission has been sitting, which is not opposed to the principle of a two years' service. It will realize what Bismarck asserted; when a body of men agree to a principle, it is evidence that they intend to do nothing. There is no anxiety in France among the classes to join the army; they are only too happy when they can escape from it. And were it not for conscription—compulsory service, in a word—France would have no army at all. Just now the idea is being played with, to foster volunteers, utilize them as an auxiliary force for the regulars, and thus gradually dispense with the ballot for incipient heroes. But an army of volunteers, in the English meaning of the word, is impossible to have. A number of very young lads might be collected, to array themselves in a theatrical kind of costume for a time, but the idea having no roots would wither away.

A distinguished retired cavalry officer states that on one occasion he asked a conscript what he knew of the 1870-71 period. He was silent and dazed, and confessed he had never heard of it. Another officer, when the conscripts arrived, put the following questions to them:—
"What was the 1870 war? What is Alsace-Lorraine? Who was Bismarck?" Out of fifty men from Normandy, Brittany, &c., thirty replied that they knew nothing at all, ten others vaguely believed that Alsace was a province, and that Bismarck was a German General or Emperor! Ten of the total, who were Parisians, had ideas about the disasters.
Two-thirds of France forget the hard lesson of 1870, while Sedan, Metz, &c., are as if they never existed!

A first prize Saint-Cyrion collegian is much apprehensive for upholding the new faith, the up-to-date one, that the lesson to inculcate henceforth in French youth, is not military spirit, but "patriotism." He quotes the belief of the late M. Gambetta, that France wishes for no war. But the people are delighted that the navy programme is so satisfactory and the grants for it so liberal. In some months France will have a fleet of 47 sub-marines. The fact of England having launched four ironclads in one day, and preparing to have seven more take the water very soon makes them stand aghast. That surprise has been followed by another, namely that England too will have five submarines by the close of the year, while the first will be afloat in May next. That, and her new army of nearly 800,000 men, make foreigners scratch their head.

If there be any person who still takes any interest in the Dreyfus affair, let them read the "History" of the scandal, published by M.
Joseph Reinach, Deputy, who relates the incidents day by day with the same coldness as if writing an account of the Shepherd Kings.
It is a history with a key; enigmas and intrigues are made quite clear, and the actors are in their natural places. It was the maid of the German Ambassador's daughter, and a Frenchman who schemed to be her lover, that fed the conspiracy. He made the maid collect all the contents of the waste paper baskets, and gave them to him. That same lover was a notorious double spy, and passed portions of his forger's work into the wastepaper baskets. There is plenty of daylight thrown upon French affairs in the book, especially as regards the treatment of ex-President Carnot-Perier. The grand plotter, General Mercier, appears in all his glory.

The Marcelline strike is seriously affecting the trade and prosperity of the first seaport of France. Merchant ships cannot obtain hands to be unloaded, so have to sail to Genoa, or to London or Liverpool. The dead-lock is telling on several of the local industries. Some of the disturbed firms that have had to remove or suspend business will make the temporary a permanent change.

Affairs in China are viewed as being very bad indeed, while not a gleam of betterment is visible. Unscrupulous Russia appears to be the only power that knows her own mind; she has made her grab, and intends to hold Manchuria.
That ends the European concert; to be replaced by allround grabs—the "open door" is favoured. France will obtain the key of her open door, to admit only herself. The partition of the Empire is an article of belief here. The war in South Africa must be near its close, since Kruger's friends have called in "Reuchfort" as their medicine-man. That sets us all in good humour. Of course, regret is common that England should win, and inherit territory as large as that of France; but what cannot be cured must be endured. France has the Sahara Desert to exploit.

Mid-Lent Holiday, or the Festival of the Washerwomen, was a failure this year. The institution is clearly on the wane; crowds laugh at it, instead of with it. The procession was to set out from the Champs Elysees at noon; but the "Queen of Queens" forgetting that punctuality is a politeness, a jewel with royalty, did not arrive until half-past two, then the procession started on its rounds less one-third of its tail. The whole staging was very rowdy. The royal lady was not related to the Queens of Beauty; she was not classical, while her lords and ladies in waiting had no original costumes, in GOING INSANE.

A. L. Rimer, of Stoneridge, N. Y., says—I was for a long time troubled with nervousness with intense neuritic pain in the head, which made the feet as though I was going insane.
The physicians could do nothing for me. I heard of some extraordinary cures effected by Little's Oriental Balm, and resolved to give it a trial. In five minutes after the first application, I was entirely relieved from pain. I can now enjoy a good night's rest. Sold at 2s. 6d. per bottle. Agents for Hongkong:—THE VIC-TORIA DISPENSARY, LD. [217-5] start as in the case of the late Emperor of Temple Market; the "Emperor's Lane" of Paris.

The cars were extensively decorated with flowers —in paper; the most charming bouquet was unintentionally composed of three laundry mistresses, each of the Mrs. Flawing proportions, but displaying no "substantial smiles." President Loubet viewed the Queen of Queens with all gallantry, and presented her with a gold bracelet—the usual impost to pay. The strikers of Marseilles sent up a special car to figure in the procession; but it was not allowed to join it by the police, fearing a disturbance. Later, the strikers of Marseilles, always an evergreen quantity, obtained permission to join the Marseilles car to their own; this corridor solution did not suit the taste of the spectators, so was withdrawn in order to avoid a political row.

There was no pre-Boer manifestation—the French have had enough of that nonsense.
But it was a bad recompense for all the gold which Dr. Leyds invested in cracking up the two ex-republics.

The Government intends to adopt the system of Postal Cheques; small books of cheques of not less than 5 francs, and not more than 20 francs, would be sold at the price of their fiscal value nearly. This would relieve the Post Office of much labour, where the transmission of sums amounting to two milliards of francs annually takes place. The plan in question has been in operation in Austria-Hungary for years. Germany too is likely to adopt the system, while Belgium and the United States are studying it. The Postal authorities are gradually adopting motor-cars, to supersede mail-carts, parcel and letter-carrier vans. More employees are required to insure a better delivery of letters.

M. Droulede, the exiled, and M. Buffet are afraid like Wandering Jews, trying to find in old Europe an unexploited spot where to blow one another's brains out by means of a pistol duel.
They will yet succeed. The former wants to make an example of the "royal liar"—his antagonist, M. de Rodays, Director of Le Figaro, published a veiled paragraph pointing to Comte Boni de Castellane, married to Jay Gould's daughter and her millions, as the real "royal liar"—informing the Government secretly of Droulede's quip d'Etat to upset the Constitution on the day of ex-President Faure's funeral.

The Count's father, the Marquis de Castellane, under pretence of visiting M. de Rodays, called on the latter early in the morning accompanied by his son, the Count, and a stranger. The Count made for the Director at once, gave him a pair of lovely black eyes, then the trio at once ran away. Of course, honour will be saved by a duel.

The Minister of Public Instruction has prohibited professors of history from dealing with events later than 1875. The previous prohibitive edict was limited to 1848. What may be called contemporary history, that is of events less than 25 years old, only involves political discussions; these will not be tolerated for the classroom.

The female shop-assistants have gained the right to be seated when serving customers.
The male assistants now agitate for a reduction of working hours, and hence the shop windows are full of little notices, begging the public that if they wish to be well served, to come before 7 o'clock p.m. So far so good. But a large section of the business population can only then go out shopping with their wives and families; further, if shops close early, the streets become as dark as midnight.

M. Emile Zola has a fresh grievance.
During the height of the Dreyfus conspiracy, his enemies had him "suspended" on the list of the Legion of Honour. That precaution was not applied to General Mercier. The recent amnesty left persons connected with the scandalous affair, just as they were at the time of its proclamation. No one can now seek redress, and Zola keeps company in the matter of his decoration, with Mahomet's coffin.
